Preface

The Census of Public and Semi-Government Sector Employment is a vital statistical exercise that provides comprehensive insights into employment patterns within these key sectors. Commenced in 1980 and conducted periodically by the Department of Census and Statistics, this census serves as a crucial tool for policymakers, administrators, and researchers in understanding workforce trends and making informed decisions that contribute to effective governance and public service delivery.

The preliminary findings presented in this report offer an initial overview of employment distribution, workforce demographics, and sectoral composition of the Census of Public and Semi Government Sector Employment conducted in May 2024. The report is prepared based on the summaries prepared manually at institutional level immediately after the census. These insights will be further refined through detailed analysis in a subsequent publication. By capturing data on employment structures, gender representation, and occupational classifications, this census supports evidence-based policy formulation and strategic human resource planning.

I commend the dedicated efforts of the staff of the Research and Special Studies Division whose commitment and professionalism have been instrumental in successfully conducting this census and for preparing this publication on preliminary findings. I also extend my sincere gratitude to all government and semi-government institutions that contributed to this census by providing accurate and timely data. As we present this preliminary report, we look forward to continued collaboration with stakeholders to enhance the quality and utility of labor statistics. We are confident that the findings of this census will serve as a valuable resource in shaping a more efficient and inclusive public sector workforce.

Acknowledgement

We wish to express our sincere gratitude to all those who contributed to the successful completion of the Census of Public and Semi Government Sector Employment 2024.

We acknowledge the collaborative efforts of the line ministries, provincial councils, district secretariats, and other key institutions whose contributions were invaluable for the success of this census. Without the dedication and meticulous work of every individual involved—from the initial listing of institutions to the final processing of summary data—this preliminary report would not have been possible.

Our thanks also extend to the Chief Census Coordinators, Institutional Coordinators, and all the officers across the public and semi government institutions who ensured the accuracy and completeness of the data. Their commitment to coordinating the enumeration process, preparing summary forms, and facilitating communication between institutions was crucial in overcoming the challenges posed by unprecedented circumstances.

We extend our appreciation to the Director General of the Department of Census and Statistics for the official publication of this report and particularly to the Research and Special Studies Division of the Department of Census and Statistics for carrying out this extensive data collection exercise with such precision and dedication.

We are finally thankful to all the employees who participated in the census whose cooperation and support form the foundation for reliable policy formulation and planning.

Thank you for your commitment and support.

1. Introduction

The Census of Public and Semi Government Sector Employment 2024 is the ninth in a series of such censuses conducted by the Department of Census and Statistics (DCS). The first scientific census on public and semi government sector employment was carried out in 1980 in order to cater to the requirements of data on the public and semi government sector for planning and monitoring purposes involving government employees and the institutions in which they work. Subsequently, six censuses were carried out in 1985, 1990, 1994, 1998, 2002 and 2006 respectively at a frequency of every 4 to 5 years, and the eighth census was conducted 10 years later in 2016. Due to the country's unstable situation caused by the COVID-19 pandemic and economic crisis, the ninth Census of Public and Semi-Government Sector Employment, originally scheduled for 2020, was delayed until 2024.

Before 1980, the Ministry of Public Administration had been instrumental in conducting employment censuses in 1968, 1972 and 1976 which were limited to the public sector. However, results of the 1976 census have not been published due to under-coverage observed in the enumeration. Previous records revealed that the number employed in the public sector prior to 1968 was also collected from respective Ministries by the Department of Census and Statistics.

The Department of Census and Statistics being the National Statistical Office responsible for providing official statistics required for policy formulation and government planning purposes has been following the basic principles of census taking for conducting its maiden scientific census in 1980. It was the first Census in which the public sector employees were classified into the two broad categories, the public sector and the Corporation sector. While the Public sector was composed of employees in Ministries, Departments and all other agencies coming directly under the Government Administration, the Corporation sector covered all employees in state owned Corporations and other statutory bodies. The same grouping system in classifying government employees has been used in subsequent censuses ever since.

This report presents preliminary findings of the Census of Public and Semi Government Sector Employment 2024. These findings are based on the institutional level summaries prepared manually after the census in order to give a snapshot of the extensive exercise. Questionnaires completed by the institutions are now being processed and the final report will be released afterwards.

2. Methodology

2.1. Method of Enumeration

In this census, the primary unit of enumeration is identified as all public and semi government sector employees. There are two alternative frameworks within which the target population of this census could be identified, viz. (a) their current workplace or (b) the permanent workplace his/her appointment belongs to.

There is a lag of almost 8 years between this census and the last census conducted on 17 November 2016, which resulted in a greater demand for timely data on public and semi government sector employment. Amidst the increasing data requests, DCS had to conduct its 9th Census of Public and Semi government Sector Employment alongside the Census of Population and Housing 2024, the largest data collection operation carried out by the Department. However, unlike its previous censuses which allowed employees to self-enumerate themselves, only a few key information of the employees that were identified as crucial for policy formulation and planning, was collected from all public and semi government institutions.

2.2. Listing of Public and Semi Government Institutions

The listing of all public and semi government institutions was carried out with an aim to achieve a complete coverage. Experience garnered from previous censuses was useful in identifying the Main Institutions based on which the list of all government and semi government institutions was built. Hence, all the census units were categorized into four major groups as follows;

- Line Ministries
- Provincial Councils
- District Secretariats
- Institutions of the Central Government that do not come under a Line Ministry

In parallel to the listing operation, a large network of census coordinators was appointed as follows to liaise with the DCS as and when necessary and to perform census related activities in the institutions they bear the responsibility for.

Chief Coordinators

Heads of main institutions, i.e. Secretaries to line ministries, Provincial Chief Secretaries, District Secretaries and the Secretary to the President were requested to appoint a Chief Census Coordinator representing the respective institutions to liaise with the Department of Census and Statistics.

The Chief Coordinators were requested to prepare a list of all institutions coming under their purview. Institutions published in the Gazette Extraordinary No. 2289/43 dated 22 July 2022 was the basis for building the list of all institutions coming under line ministries. List of all institutions not coming under the purview of a line ministry was provided by the Presidential Secretariat while the responsibility for the preparation of the list of institutions coming under the Provincial Councils was assigned to the Chief Census Coordinators of respective Provincial Councils.

The Chief Census Coordinators, 64 in total, were responsible for the smooth execution of the census in their respective institution and for coordinating census activities in institutions that come under the purview of the main institution for which the Chief Census Coordinators were appointed.

Institutional Coordinators

Once the list of institutions was prepared, Chief Coordinators were requested to nominate Institutional Coordinators for the following institutions which are coming directly under main institutions;

- All Departments and other Government institutions, Corporations, Statutory Bodies, Public Companies coming under Line Ministries
- All Provincial Ministries and other government institutions and Statutory bodies coming under provincial ministries and institutions not coming under the purview of provincial ministries.
- All Divisional Secretariats
- Institutions not coming under the purview of a Line Ministry

In addition to the appointments of Chief Census Coordinators and Institutional Coordinators, instructions were given to Chief Census Coordinators to identify and appoint an officer responsible for the execution of Census activities from each and every public and semi government institutions coming under their purview.

All public and semi government sector institutions listed at the listing stage of the census amounted to approximately 32,500.

2.3. Responsibilities entrusted with Census Coordinators

- i) Pre Census Operational activities
 - o Arrange the distribution of Census related documents to all agencies coming under their purview
 - o Raise awareness that all institutions under their purview should conduct the census in accordance with the instructions provided.
 - o Pre census publicity
- ii) Conducting census enumeration/ data collection activity
- iii) Preparation of census summaries
- iv) Submitting completed census questionnaires and summaries to the main institution

2.4. Preparation of Census Summary Forms

In order to cater to the urgent data needs on public and semi government sector employment, a set of summary forms were designed to obtain quick estimates on some important information collected from individuals.

Coordinators/ responsible officers of all census units (all public and semi government offices which are separate administrative entities) initially prepared a summary form R1 which is used to report some selected variables at unit level. The R1 summary of each census unit was sent to their parent institution to prepare R2, the Institutional Summary Forms. Institutional Summaries were sent to the Main Institution to prepare R3 which is the summary for the Main Institution.

2.5. Processing R1 summaries

About 33,000 R1 summary forms received from each and every institution in the public and semi government sector were processed to prepare the "Preliminary Report of the Census of Public and Semi Government Sector Employment 2024".

However, data users should be cautious in interpreting the findings of this report as this report presents information on public and semi government sector employees at their current place of employment. There are many Central Government/ Provincial Council agencies which have their officers posted in District Secretariats, Divisional Secretariats and even in other central government and provincial council agencies for the purpose of providing various extension services to the public, to provide expert services another public / semi government agency, or even to coordinate services provided by the parent agency. In such instances, for the purpose of this preliminary report, officers attached to an outside agency have been enumerated at their place of work and not at their permanent employer.

3. Limitations and Notable Facts

3.1. Limitations

- Employees of the subsidiaries of semi government institutions are not included in this Census.
- Uniformed staff of Sri Lanka Army, Sri Lanka Navy and Sri Lanka Air Force are not included.
- Estate field laborers of semi government sector estates are not included.

3.2. Notable facts

All employees are enumerated at their current place of employment. Therefore, if one or more officers of a certain public/ semi government institution are posted in another public or semi government institution, the particular officer/s were enumerated at the place they are usually working.

However, in order to avoid any under enumeration or duplications, officers belonging to Sri Lanka Customs and Department of Immigration and Emigration who work on roster basis were enumerated at the office of their original affiliation and not at their current place of work.

5. Preliminary Findings

Summary of findings

This section presents information on Government and Semi Government employees by the sector their current place of work belongs to, which is categorized as below.

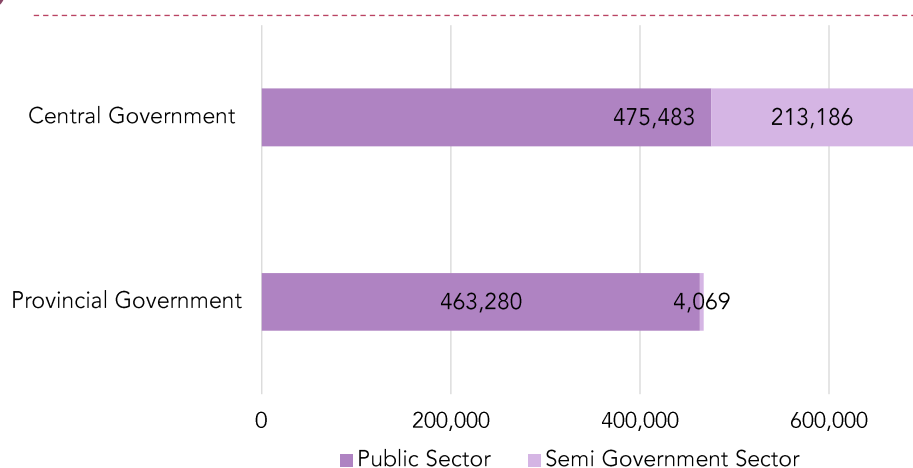

Central Government - Public Sector	employees who are currently employed in government agencies coming under the central government Eg: ministry offices, government departments and other government agencies coming under the line ministries, District Secretariats and Divisional Secretariats, government agencies that belong to the central government but not coming under a line ministry
Central Government - Semi Government Sector	employees who are currently employed in semi government agencies which are coming under the central government. Eg: Corporations, public companies, statutory bodies coming under the central government
Provincial Government - Public Sector	employees who are currently employed in government agencies coming under Provincial Councils Eg: provincial ministry offices, provincial departments and other government agencies coming under provincial councils, government agencies that belong to provincial councils but not coming under any provincial ministry
Provincial Government - Semi Government Sector	employees who are currently employed in semi government agencies which are coming under the provincial councils. Eg: Corporations, public companies, statutory Bodies coming under Provincial Councils

As shown in Table 1, the estimated number of employees in all Public and Semi-Government Sector institutions is 1,156,018. Among them, the proportion of males (50.5%) is slightly higher than that of females (49.5%). The majority of employees are in the central government, accounting for 59.5% of the total workforce.

However, Figure 3 clearly indicates that a higher proportion of females are employed in the provincial government compared to the central government. Female employees in the provincial government sector are twice as many as their male counterparts, whereas male employees in the central government semi government sector outnumber their female counterparts by more than two to one.

When comparing the public and semi-government sectors, nearly four-fifths of employees are in the public sector.

Provincial Government - Semi Government Sector	4,069	100	3,025	74.3	237	5.8	297	7.3	413	10.1	97	2.4

Approximately 97% of employees hold permanent positions, while only 3.7% are in non-permanent categories such as temporary, casual, or contract-based employment. In the public sector, over 97% of employees are in permanent positions. However, the proportion of permanent employees is lower in the semi-government sector compared to the public sector.

Due to the adverse effects of the COVID-19 pandemic and the subsequent economic crisis, the government decided to grant unpaid leave to government officials, allowing them to stay in or outside the country without affecting their seniority or pension. In this context, it is crucial to highlight the number of employees on special leave granted under the public administration circular No. 22/ 2022. Also, some officials have taken paid or unpaid leave for higher education purposes or some specific reasons. Table 4 presents the number of employees who have taken long term leaves from their service as of 28 May 2024.
